

ASA G. CANDLER, JR., APPEALS TO COURTS TO END ALLEGED VOTING CONTROL IN COCA-COLA COMPANY

Chief John Jentzen's Inspectors Are Demoted

FOUR APPOINTEES OF SANITARY HEAD LOSE PROMOTIONS

Men Let Out at Last Meeting of Health Board Are Put Back in Their Places by Vote of 7 to 5.

MAYOR ACTING CHIEF SANITARY DEPARTMENT

Action Is Taken While Chief Jentzen Is in Los Angeles Attending Convention of the Elks.

With Mayor Key acting as chief of the sanitary department and presiding over the nominations, the board of health by a 7-to-5 vote Wednesday afternoon, summarily fired four sanitary inspectors elected last Friday and replaced them with four inspectors, whom Sanitary Chief John Jentzen had failed to nominate for re-election. Two of the men he failed to propose for re-election had been his opponents in the race for chief and the other two had been active in their support. It is stated.

The men removed Wednesday were discharged under a resolution stating that the action was "for the good of the department," and they were then re-elected to their former positions as flunkies. The flunkies whom they were named to succeed were retained as supernumeraries. They had only been connected with the department since Friday.

Chambers in Attorney.

Attorney Aldine Chambers appeared as counsel for the men whom certain members of the board and Mayor Key were trying to oust. He attacked the proposed procedure as illegal, protesting that the employees could not be fired from their jobs without charges and a trial.

The ousted men and Mr. Chambers will hold a conference Thursday morning to determine what steps they will pursue against the board. They intimated following the meeting that they will immediately contest the matter in the courts.

Twice the board voted six to six on the proposal to elect Mayor Key acting chief—once on the original resolution and the second time following a motion to reconsider.

Holds Dual Office.

Commissioner T. H. Buckalew cast his second ballot as he had the first and then changed it when Mayor Key told him he might not have understood how he was voting, and the mayor became "Chief" Key by one majority, holding the dual office of mayor and chief. After the first defeat the mayor called Mr. Buckalew to his side and earnestly consulted with him.

The men who lost their jobs as inspectors and were then restored to their positions as flunkies are S. L. Cochran, John Moon, D. T. Wyman and B. B. Bryan. They were succeeded by H. P. Mallory, night superintendent of street cleaning.

TEMPORARY ORDER SIGNED BY JUDGE AND HEARING SET

Action Is Based on Claim That Defendant Failed to Pay Preferred Stock Dividends on July 1.

SUIT MAKES ATTACK ON "VOTING TRUST"

Three Members Restrained From Voting Any Stock Except Their Own at Any Meeting.

Columbus, Ga., July 6.—A temporary injunction was signed here tonight by Judge George F. Munro, of the Muscogee superior court, restraining the company from recognizing the members of the so-called "voting trust" of the Coca-Cola company from voting at any meeting of the stockholders other than their own stock, and restraining the company from recognizing the members of the "trust" from attempting to control and direct the affairs of the corporation.

The order restrains the members of the "trust" from attempting to control and direct the affairs of the corporation.

The action was based on the claim that the defendant company filed and refused on July 1, 1921, "to pay to the holders of its preferred stock dividends approved thereon at a rate of 7 per cent per annum during the continuance of the continuance of said corporation and under the contract between it and its preferred stockholders the holders of the preferred stock are now entitled to one vote for each share of preferred stock so held."

Mr. Bradley, who is chairman of the board of directors, was out of the city tonight and no statement could be obtained from him. He was said to have gone to Mill Haven, Ga., to attend a meeting of the directors of the Bibb Manufacturing company.

representatives of The Constitution stated that they did not know anything of the petition for an injunction filed in Columbus. Asa G. Candler, Sr., who founded the Coca-Cola company, and S. C. Dobbs, former president, said they had heard nothing of such a step.

Efforts to reach Asa G. Candler, Jr., for a statement failed. The Coca-Cola company, originally a Georgia institution, was reorganized more than a year ago, under a Delaware charter. When stock in the new organization was offered for sale there was a rush for it in every section of the country.

For some time past there has been a controversy on between the company and the Coca-Cola Bottling company, the bottlers claiming that their contract was a perpetual one, and the Delaware company asserting that it was terminable at will. The case was brought into court with notable counsel on both sides and was fought out in the New Jersey federal courts.

Only about two weeks ago a conference was held in Atlanta, at which Eugene Stetson, vice president of the Guarantee Trust Company of New York, who is a large stockholder, was present, and an agreement reached between the bottlers and the company, and this was thought at the time to settle all legal difficulties of the organization.

The news of the injunction suit brought in Morgan County Wednesday proved a decided surprise.

Washington, July 6.—Five members of the house under a resolution adopted today will attend funeral services Sunday afternoon at Hot Springs, N. C., for 7,617 soldier dead whose bodies have been brought back from France. A delegation from the senate is expected to attend.

FORSYTH TO DRILL ADDITIONAL WELL

Juliette, Ga., July 6.—(Special.)—The city authorities of Forsyth have decided to avert the danger of water shortage by drilling an additional artesian well of such capacity as to practically double the available water supply. The well will be near the lake, so that water may be pumped direct.

The prolonged dry weather has placed a severe strain upon the water supply of the city and the danger of shortage in that respect is said to be not far off. The water supply from Besse Tift college has been partially diverted to the city, and has been the means of relieving the situation to a great extent.

RESCUE DROWNING IN SAVANNAH

Savannah, Ga., July 6.—(Special.)—T. L. Jewett, a lightweight young man, was hero this afternoon in a thrilling rescue from drowning of Fred Elks, a 250-pound jockeyman on the tug "Morgan" in the river. The tug was running on the river when it was caught and swept under the water and directly towards a barge moored in the river.

In his clothes and shoes, Jewett dived for the man and caught him within two feet of the barge under which he would have been swept. Libby was unconscious, but worked for an hour at the marine hospital brought him round, and he was transferred to the police barracks on a charge of being drunk.

and Inspectors James Simpson, A. C. Belcher and Joseph Abernathy. Chief Jentzen is absent from the city for several days, leaving last Sunday with a delegation of Georgia Elks to attend the national Elks' convention at Los Angeles, California.

Committee Room Crowded. When the meeting was called to order, the committee room was crowded with employees of the sanitary department and other interested spectators. The session was charged with tension. Leading the anti-Jentzen group was Dr. Linton Smith, president of the board, and Commissioner George Lyle, while Commissioner H. M. Patterson spoke for the members who would stick by their votes at the annual election held last week.

The meeting was a special session called by President Smith. As he stepped for order Mr. Patterson rose in known as dominion home rule. It is reported, as well, that the South African statesman has insisted on the other hand that Sinn Fein agree to an immediate armistice if it desires his assistance to obtain peace.

The greatest secrecy surrounds the latest developments, for Lloyd-George is determined not to permit any jangling of the coming negotiations through any premature announcement.

DeValera Has Hopes. In the first authorized statement made by Eamon De Valera since Lloyd-George's invitation to discuss the Irish situation, the president of the Irish "republic" expresses hope that the negotiations will lead to a peaceful solution of the age-long strife. He said:

"We trust that the British minister's letter may prove to be the first step towards substituting a civilized basis of right and reason for that of barbaric violence. The arbitration of the question at issue between Ireland and Great Britain. 'Should the conference now initiated lead to an ultimate understanding and lasting peace between the peoples of these two islands, which have been in a state of war, or suspended war, for more than seven and a half centuries, it will set a worthy Christian precedent for the entire world.'"

British prestige will be restored. Young Ireland will live in history as having saved, by its courage and steadfastness, the ideals for which millions were led to offer their lives in the great war."

NO HOSTILITY TOWARD ULSTER.

Dublin, July 6.—The Irish Bulletin, organ of the Dail Eireann, declares that there is no hostility towards northeast Ulster by the other parts of Ireland. It says: "Mr. De Valera has admitted that their claim to autonomy is just; they will receive from the Irish people terms more generous and a legislative figure more dignified than Lloyd-George conferred on them, but on one condition, that they cease to allow northeast Ulster to be used in Carson's works as a bridgehead for the conquest and subjection of Ireland."

JENTZEN'S APPOINTEES LOSE THEIR POSITIONS

to his feet with a copy of the rules of the board in his hands. "Mr. President," he said, "I rise to a point of personal privilege to declare that this meeting is illegal since it was not called in accordance with the rules. The rules state that the board may be convened in special session by a call of the president on three members, issued through the secretary, in cases of emergency."

President Smith very promptly ruled that his point was not well taken. Mr. Patterson appealed from the ruling of the chair, but the board sustained his decision, by the vote of 5 to 2.

"To Rectify Injustice." President Smith announced that the meeting would proceed and stated its purpose. He said it was called to rectify an injustice done to four employees whom Chief Jentzen had not nominated to succeed themselves.

They had opposed the chief for re-election. Malloy being defeated by him and Simpson was an active candidate against him up to the house of the election, when the combined strength of the two candidates was concentrated on Malloy. The other two men are said to have supported Jentzen's opponents.

Dr. Smith's statement that these men were the broadest back to the department and the Jentzen men fired brought Aldine Chambers to his feet. He served notice on the board that he had been retained as counsel for the employees who had suddenly become the center of outburst proceedings and declared that before the board went any further he wished to enter general objections to anything that the body might do adverse to their rights. Mayor Key replied frankly that his purpose in the meeting was to replace the men who were out. Commissioner Lyle then offered an amendment to the section of the rules which provided for election of sanitary inspectors at a regular meeting, substituting in addition the authority to elect them at a special meeting. After a skirmish it was adopted 7 to 5.

Key for Action Chief. Mr. Lyle then submitted a resolution to elect Mayor Key acting chief until the return of Chief Jentzen.

"It that will affect the interest of my clients I water objection," said Mr. Chambers. A tie vote, six and six, resulted, and the resolution was lost.

At this point Mayor Key gave the board to understand that if elected chief of the sanitary department he wouldn't desert the office of mayor, but would leave the running of the department in identical the same hands that Chief Jentzen placed its operation when he left—all the functions of chief he desired was to nominate the four inspectors who had lost their jobs.

Having won the first and lost the second, Commissioner Lyle introduced his third resolution which provided that Cochran, Moon, Turman and Bryan "be removed and discharged upon the ground that their removal and discharge is for the good of the department, in view of the misunderstanding which arose at the time of their election and in view of the disorganization of the department by reason of their election under the circumstances."

Mr. Chambers entered another protest. "As I construe the rules of the board," he stated, "the sanitary inspectors are elected for one year and for whatever additional length of time as is within the pleasure of the board. These men should not be made the victims of a condition for which they are in no sense responsible. This resolution is illegal and these men can't be put out of the force without charges and a trial."

Key for School Board. Mr. Patterson looked across the table in Mayor Key's direction and remarked that the firing of "employees without charges or trial originated with the board of education."

The Lyle resolution won 7 to 5, and Mr. Lyle then renewed his motion to name the mayor acting chief. Mr. Chambers made the point that a last motion could not be introduced the second time at the same meeting. Mr. Lyle then moved to reconsider their action on the resolution. Mr. Chambers made the point that it couldn't be reconsidered either.

Mayor Key blurted out in an exasperated tone: "We are glad to have your assistance, Mr. Chambers, but I think the board will run that." The board did run it and went ahead with the vote, the resolution losing again on the six and six tie vote. Mayor Key asked Mr. Buckalew if he hadn't misunderstood the vote. Mr. Patterson made the point that the vote had been declared and that closed the matter. President Smith replied that the chair had not a motioned the vote and gave Mr. Buckalew permission to change his vote if he wished, and Mr. Buckalew voted to seat the mayor as chief.

Vested with the chief's authority, the mayor nominated to their old places the inspectors who had given up their badges, then he nominated the four ousted men to fill their former jobs as flushers.

Last Friday, by the vote of eight to five, the board confirmed without change the list of Chief Jentzen's nominations. At the same meeting the anti-Jentzen faction moved for a reconsideration of the election of the four employees who were dropped, and Mayor Key and two Jentzen supporters joined them on the vote and the move was successful.

City Attorney James L. Mayson, ruled that such action was illegal. The opponents of the chief then arranged for the special meeting Wednesday.

The New Improved Gillette
Patented January 13th, 1910

Seldom does the camera owner realize how many inventors contributed their work to make a snap-shot possible! Scheele, Archer, Fry, Maddox, King, Kennett—followed by the scores of men who perfected the celluloid film, opening up photography to everybody everywhere.

IN your home, your office, or factory, your work or your sport—nearly everything you use is the combined result of many different inventors and discoverers.

Not so your New Improved Gillette!

The New Gillette is the creation of the same group of men who have served the world with Gillette Safety Razors and Blades for nearly twenty years.

It brings to you the latest, the finest, results of Gillette experience and factory resources.

Through the long-established Gillette Organization, it reaches every nook and corner of the Civilized Globe.

Never has any human need owed so much to a single source as shaving owes to the Gillette Organization.

Never was a success more dramatic or more complete.

The Gillette has seen three hundred makes of razors flare up—only to flicker out. It has seen imitations—and the imitations harmed nobody but the men who tried to use them.

Now the New Improved Gillette brings the era of micrometric precision in shaving.

Go to your druggist, hardware merchant, jeweler, sporting goods dealer, haberdasher, or men's department—any one of 250,000 Gillette dealers the world over.

AGED SURVIVOR OF PISTOL DUEL FIGHTS FOR LIFE

Reports from Grady hospital Wednesday night indicated that W. Fenley, aged survivor of the pistol duel fought on the porch of his home on Currán street Tuesday in which J. A. Bancroft was killed, has a fighting chance for life.

Because of Mr. Fenley's age, 72, and the many wounds he sustained at the hands of Bancroft, the fact that he is still alive is considered remarkable. He was shot several times, one of the bullets taking effect in his eye, and cut about the neck, besides being beaten over the head with a gun butt.

Police indicated that in the event of the recovery of Fenley no charges would be preferred against him for his part in the duel, as all testimony of witnesses has pointed to the fact that he acted merely in self-defense. Bancroft had fired several shots before he got his gun to return the fire.

The cause of the quarrel is said to be a debt which Bancroft owed Fenley.

Memorial Fountain On Peachtree Street Will Be Remodeled

The beautiful fountain standing at Fifteenth and Peachtree streets to commemorate the founders and charter members of the Atlanta chapter, D. A. R., is to be remodeled.

The work which will consist of replacement of the concrete base and superstructure with a beautiful grade of Georgia marble will start immediately.

The expense of remodeling is being undertaken by Mrs. J. M. High, a former regent of the chapter, who originally built the fountain seven years ago.

THREE TECH BOYS WILL ENTER MISSION FIELD

Three more men have been added to Georgia Tech's list of students who will enter the foreign missionary field upon their graduation. Those who volunteered at the Southern Student conference held at Blue Ridge, Ga., were M. Mahoury, of Eastman; R. M. Watson, of Atlanta; and J. M. Gossard, a star of Tech's 1920 football team.

More than 600 students from 68 colleges and universities were present at the conference, which was held under the auspices of the International committee of the Y. M. C. A. Dr. H. C. Gossard, southern executive secretary, was in general charge of the conference.

To Make Rich Red Blood

Revitalize your worn-out exhausted nerves and increase your strength and endurance take Organic Iron; not metallic iron which people usually take, but pure organic iron—Nuxated Iron—which is like the iron in your blood and like the iron in spinach, lentils and apples. One dose of Nuxated Iron is estimated to be approximately equivalent to a quart of spinach or a quart of green vegetables or half a dozen apples. It is like taking extract of beef instead of eating pounds of meat. Nuxated Iron is partially predigested and ready for almost immediate absorption and assimilation of the blood, while metallic iron is iron just as it comes from the action of strong acids on small pieces of iron filings.

Over 4,000,000 men annually are using Nuxated Iron. It will not irritate the teeth nor disperse the stomach. A few doses will often commence to enrich your blood, your money will be refunded by the manufacturer if you do not obtain satisfactory results. Beware of substitutes. Always insist on having genuine organic iron—Nuxated Iron. Look for the letters R. I. on every tablet. Sold by all druggists.

For sale in this city by Jacobs' Pharmacy Company and all other drug stores.

Ninety-two degrees continues to be the maximum which the mercury attains in its daily ascensions. The highest temperature reached thus far is 95 degrees, almost two weeks ago.

More than 500 ex-service men in Georgia are entitled to the reduced rates to the reunion of the Rainbow division being held at Hotel Winton, Cleveland, Ohio, July 14-16. Owing to an inadequate mailing list not more than 25 per cent of these men will receive their certificates entitling the holder to the reduced fare and Colonel Cooper D. definitely, and in all probability will, the project, which congress has been dithering for months. Leaders have at all times been loath to support the bonus, and expected to delay final action in spite of the fact that consideration had been forced by the insistence of senators and organized veterans.

Mellon says it is impossible to make definite estimates as to the total ultimate cost of the bonus. The minimum, if all veterans accepted adjusted service pay, he puts at $1,500,000,000. The maximum, if all accepted adjusted service certificates, he estimates at $5,500,000,000.

"The actual cost of the bill would fall between these two extremes," he wrote. "If, as seems probable, at least one-half should elect the cash payment plan and about one-third of the latter borrow on their certificates, the ultimate cost of the bill, it is estimated, would be $2,500,000,000."

GEORGIA VEGETABLES WANTED IN FLORIDA

Evidence of Georgia's agricultural prosperity, particularly with regard to growing of vegetables, is shown in four letters recently received by H. L. Brown, Fulton county agricultural agent, from the chambers of commerce of four Florida cities requesting that data be sent them advising if Fulton county is in position to supply certain amounts of vegetables to the Florida towns.

In compliance with the requests, Mr. Brown has appointed a subcommittee to decide upon the feasibility of the plan and the best methods of handling the orders.

The four cities seeking aid from Fulton county are Jacksonville, Tampa, Miami and Key West. Upon receipt of the requests, Mr. Brown communicated with them and immediately received large orders. It is now up to Atlanta officials of the curb market and details of the project will be handled by the women's market committee of the Atlanta Woman's club, of which Mrs. Norman Sharp is chairman. Mr. Brown, and the following, will assist in working out a definite plan: J. R. Allen, George Gibbs and E. A. Moore, Fulton county farmers.

Mellon said administrative expenses, and selection of other optional plans by veterans, would seriously embarrass the treasury. "These estimates, incomplete as they are, show the heavy obligations to the government which will be committed to the country. To impose these vast additional liabilities upon the treasury, particularly under present conditions in industry and commerce, would in my judgment, create a serious situation."

Mellon says "not the least disturbing feature of the bill is the proposal to postpone actual distribution of the benefits to 1923."

"This means that, without conferring immediate benefits on ex-service men, the country would be committing itself to a stupendous indeterminate liability which, once assumed, it would have to carry through no matter how embarrassing it might be to the finances of the government and the business of the country when the time comes for fulfillment."

Adding to burden.

"It could be financed only by adding to the burden of debt and taxes under which the country is now staggering. However financed, no such sum could be taken out of the public treasury without throwing a corresponding load upon the whole people in the form of increased interest charges, increased taxes, and increased cost of living. This burden, moreover, would be

Howard Theater—Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Bebe Daniels in "The March Hare."

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Lyric.)

Exceptionally fine and thoroughly realistic scenes of the dramatic-Carpenter fight are a feature of the new show opening at Keith's Lyric theater with the Thursday matinee. The pictures, including about 200 feet of film, are declared by experts to be among the best light scenes ever presented.

The big time Keith vaudeville bill opening today is headlined by Louis Hart's "Dream of Jack and the Beanstalk."

Another winning all-star combination of vaudeville and pictures is offered as the week-end attraction at Loew's Grand. The aurora borealis, which has hitherto defied successful photography, has been woven into the plot of a photoplay which will be seen at the Strand theater today, Friday and Saturday.

The picture is called "Skyfire," with Neel Hart, known as "America's Pal," as the star.

The scene is laid in the Canadian northwest and the action is said to be rapid and thrilling. Neel Hart will be seen as Barr Conroy, a Canadian northwest mounted officer.

"Lessons in Love."

In addition to appearing in the chic costume of a French maid, Constance Talmadge will be seen in some very smart and up-to-the-minute styles in her latest Associated First National release, "Lessons in Love," which constitutes the Criterion's major attraction this week.

For Constance and her sister, Norma, recently signed a contract with Lucien Long, one of the best known writers in Paris, whereby they agree to have Long furnish them with twelve models per year.

Kaber Jury Hears Testimony; All Members Male

Defense to Claim Woman Has Had Diseased Mind Since Childhood.

Cleveland, July 6.—Twelve men will decide whether Mrs. Eva Catherine Kaber is guilty of first degree murder in connection with the fatal stabbing of her husband, Daniel F. Kaber, in their Lakewood home two years ago by alleged hired assassin. Every man tentatively called on the jury was dismissed promptly by Mrs. Kaber's counsel, thus making good the declaration of Francis W. Poulson, of Mrs. Kaber's counsel, that no woman would be permitted to sit in judgment against her. If he could help it, because they are "heartless" in judging one of their own sex.

In his opening statement to the jury, Attorney William J. Corri, for the defense, asserted that many of the state's contentions were true, but that defense testimony would show that Mrs. Kaber had not intended to murder her husband and that her actions were the result of a mind diseased from childhood and even before birth and worn down by "horrible things that will reflect no credit on the defendant."

When General Dawes, as director of the budget, has a breathing spell to investigate the figures furnished by Miss Robertson upon the high cost of talk, it is to be wondered at that he should have a vocabulary of fire and brimstone, will say. But the country is more vitally interested in what he will do than in what he will say to the delegates, although there will probably be amendments. Officers of the association, however, are confident that the substance of the act will not be materially affected or changed.

At Wednesday afternoon's session, after reading of several reports from officials of the association, two leading pharmacists from throughout the state assembled in Taft hall and promptly at 5 o'clock entered into a busy session, dealing with vital problems affecting the pharmaceutical industry.

T. A. Cheatham, of Atlanta, secretary of the association, read the report of the organization for the past fiscal year. He was followed by T. C. Marshall, treasurer, who made a report.

The annual report of the secretary of the board of pharmacy was read by B. S. Persons, of Macon. Among the Atlanta speakers was D. J. Gantt, federal prohibition director, who explained in detail the workings of the Harrison narcotic act and the Volstead prohibition law, with their relationship to the drug industry.

A. O. Blalock, collector of internal revenue, then addressed the convention. He warmly defended the drug control legislation, but he believed the abolition of such clinics was a great mistake.

There are many cases, he declared, of incurables, who, without some systematic dispensation of a certain amount of drugs, will reach a stage where it would be a crime, from a humanitarian standpoint, to deprive them of the source of much expense and worry.

Mr. Blalock urged the convention to formulate some plan whereby, through concerted action, congress may be made to see the necessity of establishing in each state an institution especially designed for treatment of dope addicts and incurables, pointing out that such a system of handling this existing evil would take away from the respective states the source of much expense and worry.

Broaden Committee Scope.

A resolution instructing the incoming president to be elected to install at Thursday's session, to broaden the scope of many committees at present appointed, but which have been long dormant, and also to appoint a new committee to be known as "merchandising and sales plans committee," was unanimously adopted.

At Thursday's session, the feature will be the bill for creation of the Georgia board of pharmacy. The act, in its present form, as presented to the state legislature last week, provides for membership of five members of the association, and to serve five years from date of appointment. The members are to

Woman Protests Against Volatility Of Congressmen

BY CLARK HOWELL, JR.

Constitution Bureau, Raleigh Hotel.

Washington, July 6.—(By Constitution Leased Wire.)—Strange, but true, a woman, the only woman member of congress, is protesting against the volatility of senators and representatives and the expense entailed by the publication of their remarks in the Congressional Record.

Miss Alice Robertson, of Oklahoma, is supplying the public with a weekly gripe account occasioned by garrulous congressmen.

According to the figures supplied by Miss Robertson the house and senate flow of words amounts to a total of more than 400,000 words weekly. All of these are not spoken. It would be impossible for that many words to be spoken while congress is actually in session. But undated by the limitations of time which prevent the actual speaking of their words, many congressmen avail themselves of the privilege of having their remarks "extended" in the Record with "applause" and "laughter" inserted at appropriate places.

This tremendous flow of words is printed at a cost to the taxpayers of about $3,000 per week. And this does not include the reprint of bills, roll calls, and bills introduced, which are essential records. But it does include the expenses of public works, of members of the country. Of course, when these constituents receive The Record, even should they read it, they have already acquainted themselves with all the content facts from the newspapers, and at no expense to the government.

When General Dawes, as director of the budget, has a breathing spell to investigate the figures furnished by Miss Robertson upon the high cost of talk, it is to be wondered at that he should have a vocabulary of fire and brimstone, will say. But the country is more vitally interested in what he will do than in what he will say to the delegates, although there will probably be amendments. Officers of the association, however, are confident that the substance of the act will not be materially affected or changed.

At Wednesday afternoon's session, after reading of several reports from officials of the association, two leading pharmacists from throughout the state assembled in Taft hall and promptly at 5 o'clock entered into a busy session, dealing with vital problems affecting the pharmaceutical industry.

T. A. Cheatham, of Atlanta, secretary of the association, read the report of the organization for the past fiscal year. He was followed by T. C. Marshall, treasurer, who made a report.

The annual report of the secretary of the board of pharmacy was read by B. S. Persons, of Macon. Among the Atlanta speakers was D. J. Gantt, federal prohibition director, who explained in detail the workings of the Harrison narcotic act and the Volstead prohibition law, with their relationship to the drug industry.

A. O. Blalock, collector of internal revenue, then addressed the convention. He warmly defended the drug control legislation, but he believed the abolition of such clinics was a great mistake.

There are many cases, he declared, of incurables, who, without some systematic dispensation of a certain amount of drugs, will reach a stage where it would be a crime, from a humanitarian standpoint, to deprive them of the source of much expense and worry.

Mr. Blalock urged the convention to formulate some plan whereby, through concerted action, congress may be made to see the necessity of establishing in each state an institution especially designed for treatment of dope addicts and incurables, pointing out that such a system of handling this existing evil would take away from the respective states the source of much expense and worry.

Broaden Committee Scope.

A resolution instructing the incoming president to be elected to install at Thursday's session, to broaden the scope of many committees at present appointed, but which have been long dormant, and also to appoint a new committee to be known as "merchandising and sales plans committee," was unanimously adopted.

At Thursday's session, the feature will be the bill for creation of the Georgia board of pharmacy. The act, in its present form, as presented to the state legislature last week, provides for membership of five members of the association, and to serve five years from date of appointment. The members are to receive the sum of $35 per day while engaged in actively performing the duties of their office, and the board will become effective immediately after passage by the legislature.

Drug Exposition.

In conjunction with the convention, the most complete and thoroughly successful exposition of drugs and sundries ever attempted in being staged in the city Auditorium.

Hundreds of booths, arranged on the entire floor of the Auditorium, and in which are being displayed samples of products embracing every phase of the drug and pharmaceutical industry in addition to many side lines usually counted as items entering into drug store features, are attracting hundreds daily.

The scene is especially attractive at night, the array of lighting devices and illuminated emblems giving the exposition a colorful aspect, and to many it has the appearance of a gala holiday occasion rather than a strictly business and commercial proposition.

Musical notes from all sides of the large Auditorium and dancing in Taft hall is a feature of each evening, music for the feature being furnished by an augmented stringed instrument orchestra known as the Auditorium Orchestra. No charge is made for the dance, although guests to the exhibit are charged a small admission fee, for which they are loaded down with souvenirs, and are entitled to witness all exhibitions and to participate in all features attending the exposition.

The exhibit will continue through Saturday. An interest in the event grows, and as thousands of visitors flock to the Auditorium, the doors, they are impressed with the immensely of the undertaking and the overwhelming success which so far has greeted the promoters.

Delegates Are Welcomed.

At Wednesday morning's session of the association, Mayor Key delivered the welcoming address to the delegates. Following the call of members, reports of outstanding committee work were given, a budget and new and old business outlined, and one of the features was an address by Charles A. Smith, of Atlanta, "Window Displays as a Help to Sales."

In this play the good little bad girl opens an entirely new bag of tricks. Election of delegates. Installation of officers who have one of the most important duties may not constitute a very large and valuable addition these days to midday's sessions, but when they are handed over in one package it looks as though it might make a difference to the corner drug store at least, especially when one has a wealth of absurd laws that just will not stay put without them.

Miss Mable Nunn, of Buford, Ga., guessed that the attendance at the Drug and Sundries exposition in the Auditorium would be 800 Tuesday and 800 it was to the lot. For this expert piece of guessing the Venida Hair Noun people gave her one of the nicest exhibits in the big show, and who are offering six dozen hair nets each day for the best guess on attendance figures, turned the package over to Miss Nunn Wednesday.

Mrs. W. R. Granberry, of 688 North Boulevard, won the package for the best guess on the attendance within two of the exact number.

REPORT SHOWS POOLS DO RUSHING BUSINESS

Attendance at the swimming pools during the month of June was 27,421, exclusive of children under fourteen years of age who are permitted to go in free, according to a report read at the meeting of the board of park commissioners Wednesday afternoon.

There were 42,450 paid admissions at Piedmont park, 29,345 men and 14,095 women. At Grant park 14,325 men went in swimming and 7,112 women. Attendance of both sexes at the other pools were: Mad-dox, 12,000; Moseley, 6,000, and Oak-land City, 14,225.

The report of Mrs. Hatty Moore, playgrounds director, showed that 42,264 children attended the play-grounds in June.

The board adopted a rule making it unlawful for any person to smoke within thirty feet of the play-grounds.

The board voted to rescind its former action giving permission for the Governor's Horse Guards to erect stables in Piedmont park. A group of citizens living near the park appeared before the board to protest against locating the stables in that vicinity.

"Beach Lizards" To Get the Hook At Bathing Pools

BY HENSON TATUM.

When "beach lizards" bother fair bathers at Atlanta's swimming pools the law of the park board is aroused. Park Commissioner H. C. Blake has discovered them in numbers at Grant park, he told the commissioners at their meeting Wednesday afternoon. They lounge near the bath houses and "ogle" the women as they enter the pool and again as they emerge after a plunge, he said.

The commissioner first noticed traffic congestion more than nine-hundred per cent more on the walk that skirts the pool in front of the women's bath house. The official elbowed his way into the crowd. He came out with fire in his eye to start war on the "beach lizard." Wednesday he told the park board of his observations and the board very promptly voted to bar the beach to men. The walkway running alongside of the women's bath house was ordered roped off during swimming hours.

Mr. Miller declared that the Berg-doll matter is a reflection on the government, and urged that if necessary, force be brought to bear on Germany. Miller was defending his recent action in selling property of Grover Cleveland Berg-doll.

"I observe that some of our statesmen at Washington, during the debate on the peace resolution, questioned the action of the alien property custodian in the Bergdoll seizure," the speaker said. "Let them not forget that an enemy under the law is one who raided in Germany or Austria during the war and who was not protected by war trade board license. Such is Bergdoll's status."

Within Trading with Enemy Act. "When Bergdoll broke the law and fled to Germany," he continued, "he placed himself within the scope of the trading with the enemy act, and we would have been derelict in our duty had we not carried out the law, which is plain in its meaning and direction, and seize the property of this flagrant violator of our laws, who evaded military service at the time the country needed men, and who now, from his temporary vantage point overseas, adds to his former crimes by uttering insolent verbal attacks against this country and its officials."

"Since President Harding assumed office, much has been done by the administration and the members of the cabinet in the line of ex-er-cise of service men and particularly those who were disabled," said Mr. Miller in speaking of the policy of the present administration toward ex-service men. "One of the most outstanding features was the appointment by the president of a committee, headed by General Dawes, for the purpose of inquiring into the conditions surrounding the compensation, rehabilitation and hospitalization of disabled men and women."

Thus the president at the outset of his administration indicated that it was his purpose to radically change conditions heretofore existing with respect to the ex-service men and women of this country.

The president's recommendations have already passed the house of representatives in the Sweet bill, now before the senate, which provided one single governmental agency to be known as the veterans' administration, headed by an assistant secretary of the treasury.

"In this manner the three agencies dealing with all problems relating to ex-service persons, disabled or otherwise, will be consolidated under one head. Heretofore

Fort Chosen Head of State Legion; Americas To Be New Headquarters

Columbus, Ga., July 6.—(Special.) The state convention of the American Legion came to an end this afternoon with the election of officers and the selection of Waycross as the 1922 convention city. James A. Fort, of Americus, was elected state commander by a close vote over Edgar Dunlap, of Gainesville. It was announced that the Georgia headquarters for the legion would be moved to Americus.

Walter A. Richards, commander of the Charles S. Harrison post, of Columbus, was elected senior vice commander. Other officers elected were: Junior vice commander, Harry Kendall, Macon; adjutant, J. E. H. McDaniel, Americus; treasurer, J. A. Bankston, Atlanta; executive committee, W. R. Gignilliat, W. B. Bennett, L. L. Cooke, J. A. Lynch, R. B. Troutman, M. J. Witman, Kenneth Hamilton, Robert McMillan, J. S. Nixon, Jr., J. W. Newbern and R. W. Cooper.

Major P. C. Harris, of Macon, was named as delegate to the national convention in Kansas City, and Mr. Cann, of Savannah, and Mr. Holden, of Arlington, were named as committeemen from the state at large to represent the state organization.

At the closing session of the convention an address was delivered by Thomas W. Miller, alien property custodian of the United States and member of the national executive committee of the American Legion.

Mr. Miller declared that the Berg-doll matter is a reflection on the government, and urged that if necessary, force be brought to bear on Germany. Miller was defending his recent action in selling property of Grover Cleveland Berg-doll.

"I observe that some of our statesmen at Washington, during the debate on the peace resolution, questioned the action of the alien property custodian in the Bergdoll seizure," the speaker said. MAJOR JAMES A. FORT.

the rehabilitation section of the vocational training board, the war risk insurance bureau and the public health service have all operated independently of each other, although a disabled ex-service man had to deal with all three of them in order to obtain results.

Not Ready for Peace Problems. "Unfortunately the United States was not better prepared for the problems of peace and reconstruction than they were for war when it first came upon us in 1917. Two years and a half after the armistice we find the congress appropriating the first sum of money for permanent hospital sites, namely, the sum of $18,000,000, appropriated in the act of March 2, 1921. If those hospital buildings should be erected immediately they would be insufficient to properly care for all the disabled ex-service men, some of whom are located at what are known as unsatisfactory beds located in state and county institutions, as well as private and contract hospitals."

We basked in the valour of ignorance before the war in regard to preparedness and the great bulk of the American people have not yet learned the lesson from America's participation in the war, particularly in regard to the problems affecting the disabled. Let us consider our casualty list, which totaled approximately 300,000 killed or wounded. The average number of persons in each family is five and by multiplying we find that one and a half to two million people had boys in their families who were killed or wounded."

This is a plain problem in mathematics and 2,000,000, as compared to our total population of 110,000,000, explains in part a certain indifference towards our wounded men. Let us look at our allies, France, having killed 1,800,000 with 3,000,000 maimed or wounded. We readily see from these figures that there was not a family in France that escaped and the case in Great Britain and Italy is practically the same, while little Serbia lost almost half of her entire population in killed. Public opinion will become aroused and it will not be necessary for the disabled saviors of our land to fight the government and its bureau for what they so richly and justly deserve, by sentiment as well as by law."

Other Post-War Problems. "There are other problems affecting ex-service men not alone growing out of the wounds of battle. I refer to those men who found their positions filled when they returned to civil life. Those in the government service found their places under the civil service filled or usurped by those who were not privileged to serve in the combat forces. Postmaster General Hayes clearly demonstrated his appreciation of this problem and one of the first acts of his administration was to issue an executive order, righting these wrongs in his great department."

The slacker lists published by the war department under the direction of Secretary Weeks set the wheels of justice in motion and will eventually bring to account thousands of people who evaded service, and those who died will not have done so in vain, and those who are disabled will know that there is justice in the land."

Mr. Miller is one of the original members of the legion and was the first national chairman of the legion's legislative committee. He was accompanied to Columbus by Colonel Harry W. Bond, with whom he served in France.

Woman's Auxiliary Officers. At the permanent organization of the Georgia Woman's Auxiliary of the American Legion, perfected late Tuesday afternoon at a session attended by women from all parts of the state, Mrs. Frank M. Fleming, Augusta, was named president.

Other officers chosen were: Mrs. E. Baker, Savannah, first vice president; Mrs. J. H. Mulheim, Augusta, second vice president; Mrs. G. C. Bloodworth, Atlanta, third vice president; Mrs. J. M. Murch, Columbus, secretary; Mrs. J. L. Newbern, Valdosta, treasurer; Mrs. J. C. Chubb, historic, and Mrs. Harry Dixon, Richland, auditor.

An executive committee was named composed of Mrs. J. T. Barnett, Atlanta; Mrs. I. M. Sisker, Monticello, and president of the Macon and Dublin units of the auxiliaries. It was decided that the next meeting of the auxiliary shall be the same as that to be chosen by the legion men.

streets are forbidden, and no arms of any kind may be carried by anyone not connected with law-enforcement forces.

Engineers of the railroad and a number of special deputies sworn in early Wednesday morning are armed to the teeth. In addition to these, rifle companies from Cor-dele and Macon and a machine gun company from Macon, with a hospital detachment, all of the First regiment of Georgia national guard, are quartered about the A. B. & A. station and are guarding the property of the road.

Officials charged with the enforcement of the law declared that no trouble of any kind is expected.

Town Very Quiet. Colonel Russell stated that he was well pleased with the situation as he found it on his arrival here. "I do not think I ever saw a more peaceful looking town," he remarked to a reporter after he had taken a short ride from the business district with Superintendent R. H. McKay of the division of the A. B. & A.

Colonel Russell held a series of conferences tonight with representative strikers and union leaders, with railroad officials and county and city authorities. He advised Mayor L. Pittman and Sheriff Dorminey to have their departments proceed as usual in making cases and made it understood that he did not intend to exercise his powers unless developments in the strike situation made it necessary.

No Federation Asked. Judge Samuel H. Sibley, of the federal court of the northern district of Georgia, Wednesday stated that he is not contemplating any action in the Fitzgerald situation to protect the A. B. & A. property, which his court some time ago assigned to the care of B. L. Buggs, receiver for the road.

Judge Sibley stated that the strikers have as yet violated no specific federal law, but he said that any attempt to obstruct the orders of the district court could be adjudged in contempt of court and the offenders dealt with at the discretion of the judge.

Much interest centered here Wednesday in the outcome of the proclamation of martial law in Fitzgerald, which was the first official action of Governor Thomas W. Hardwick in a labor disturbance.

Service Not Suspended. Receiver B. L. Buggs stated emphatically Wednesday night that train service on the A. B. & A. had not been suspended, as was stated in dispatches from Fitzgerald Tuesday night. Regular service, he said, is being maintained and the road is operating with a full force of employees.

The 500 men in Fitzgerald who are out of work, he observed, are former employees of the road whose jobs were taken by other workers after the men had refused to return to work in compliance with his offer before Judge Sibley in open court several months ago.

Martial law was declared in Fitzgerald after W. T. Reid, engineer, had been shot down by a volley from a cornfield while taking a switch engine to the yards shop. Five bullets took effect in Reid's body, and his condition is regarded as critical.

Dr. Soule of the department of agriculture. I don't owe either anything except my good will, and I don't feel that either is indebted to me."

"But I am endeavoring, in my feeble way, to represent the taxpayers of my senatorial district and those of the state. I am making no charges against Commissioner Brown nor his department, but I was in hopes that I would be allowed to present serious allegations as submitted to me."

"Charges Received. With this statement, I am leaving the matter in the hands of the general assembly and the taxpayers that the pure food branch of the de-

"The second charge which I have in my possession," said Senator Brown, "shows that the market bureau of the department received an annual appropriation of $38,000, paid by the taxpayers of this state, and that Lem B. Jackson, director of the bureau, used a part of this fund to pay his personal expenses to St. Louis in order to complete a deal with a certain automobile tax man-ufacturer to sell their tags to this state, for which he received a commission of $5,000."

"The law requires any man selling fertilizer in this state to register and secure tags. According to charges presented to me, a fertilizer known as 'Burton's Big Roll' was being sold in Canon, Franklin county, the agents of which were unregistered and without proper tags. The company, however, was not allowed to continue business after being registered."

Too Many Inspectors. "As to the fourth charge, presented to me, the law allows one oil inspector for each of the cities of Atlanta, Savannah, Macon and Columbus. There are two inspectors in each. What the law requires is that all display signs showing the gravity of the gasoline they sell, I am informed the law is not being complied with."

"I am making no specific charges, myself, against the department, as I have stated previously, but I have not seen a gravity sign at any place during the last eight months. These are the charges submitted to me, and the evidence sustaining them. I hold ready to submit at any time."

Miss Florence Miles Becomes Bride of Edwin Forrest Booth

The marriage of Miss Florence Miles and Edwin Forrest Booth of Shreveport, La., formerly of Atlanta, was an interesting event of yesterday afternoon, taking place at the home of the bride's parents, Dr. and Mrs. George M. Miles on East Fourteenth street at 3:30 o'clock.

The Rev. Frederick Stevenson, pastor of the Peachtree Road Presbyterian church and a brother of the groom, officiated, and only the relatives and a small group of close friends were present.

An improvised altar of stately palms, with baskets of pink gladioli and ferns on either side, was arranged in the living room; and the entrance of the bride and groom, accompanied by the bridesmaids, was a sight to behold. The bride wore a gown of black lace and white crepe, with a train of black lace and white crepe, and a crown of white flowers. The groom wore a tuxedo and a boutonniere of white flowers.

The ceremony was witnessed by John T. Aycock, of Monroe, and Edmund Penn, of Atlanta. The bride's father, Dr. Miles, was matron in waiting.

The bridesmaids were: Miss Alice, of Athens, and Miss Sarah, of Atlanta. The groomsmen were: Mr. Paul, of Atlanta, and Mr. John, of Atlanta.

The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where a large number of guests were entertained. The bride and groom were the center of attention, and the evening was a most successful one.

The bride was lovely in a gown of white silk, with a train of white silk and a crown of white flowers. The groom was handsome in a tuxedo and a boutonniere of white flowers.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR OF WORLD OPENS MEET

New York, July 6.—Delegations from every continent attended the opening of the Christian Endeavor World Conference in New York tonight. There were 15,000 men and women massed in the stone armory of the Seventy-first regiment that served as the convention hall. They represented eight million members.

The largest foreign contingent came from Europe, including 1,000 delegates. Others came from Japan, China, Australia, India, Armenia, Persia, Egypt and elsewhere in Asia and Africa. Five South American delegates were represented and delegates from the British Isles all were represented. Every state in the United States was represented.

The Rev. Francis E. Clark, of Boston, president of the world's Christian Endeavor union, opened the convention with an appeal for a four-square Christian Endeavor campaign to carry the principles of Christianity to all corners of the world.

Welcomed by Hylan.

The delegates were welcomed by Mayor Hylan, the Rev. Dr. Philip Ingham, of New York, and Frederick A. Wallis, commissioner of immigration.

Roger Babson, statistician, who spoke on "Christianity's Quotient," said the present business depression was due to the failure of the United States to stand continuous prosperity.

"If the majority of the people turn away from the Christian faith, the world will be a poorer place," he said. "The future of the world is in the hands of the young men and women of the country to become imbued with the principles of Christianity."

The future safety and prosperity of the United States will not be determined by our great army and navy, but by the moral and spiritual condition of the people, he said.

AGAINST EMERGENCY TARIFF PROVISION.

Washington, July 6.—(By the Associated Press.)—The protest of the French Chamber of Commerce, which has been forwarded to the State Department, is against a provision in the emergency tariff law, which would give the president power to increase duties on imports for a period of six months.

The National Education association, which is holding its annual convention here, has been informed of the measure by the State Department. The association is opposed to the measure, which it considers an interference with the rights of the States.

EGG WITHIN EGG LAID BY MONROE CO. HEN

Juliette, Ga., July 6.—(Special.)—One of the hens of this section has probably decided that since eggs are so cheap it will do no harm to experiment in regard to their structure. A hen belonging to J. P. Ellington recently laid an egg, which was found to contain another egg. The egg was found to be a small, white, oval egg, and was found to be a small, white, oval egg.
